

AVE Publishing House

Education and formation, spirituality and culture, Church and politics: these are the decisive issues of our times, they are the key words of the Ave (Anonima Veritas Editrice) Publishing House. It is a historic brand in Italian publishing with over 80 years of experience; it reaches a vast public with proposals targeted at all ages; besides texts of spiritual divulgence and of a cultural and historic indepth study, Ave has always given attention to children and adolescents. From the publication of the historic magazine "Il Vittorioso" to date, the publishing house has addressed in particular the 0/13 age group with books and magazines and with digital products for the very young 0/6 years.

God's friends Ed. Anna Peiretti

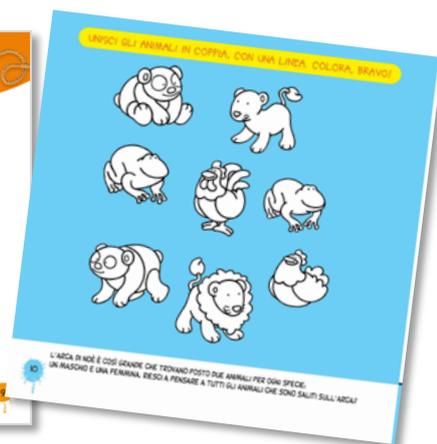

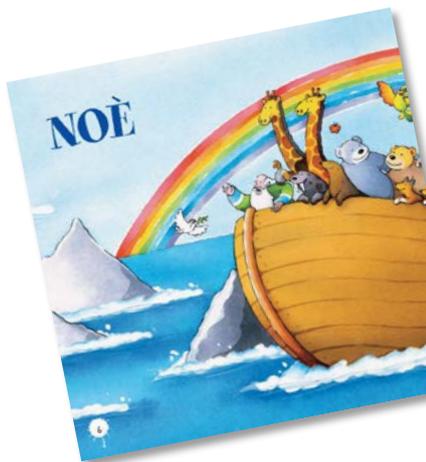

pp. 56

4-8 years

Simple words, amazing images, funny games: the first journey through the Bible starts by reading the stories of Noah, Abraham, Moses... For each character, you can find a short description of his/her life, then we tell a particular event when he or she demonstrated to be "God's friend". At the end, there are some simple activities suitable for children.

If these stories will capture the heart of the child, they will be the first steps of a Christian catechesis that starts within the family.

Champions for God Ed. Anna Peiretti

pp. 88

4-8 years

Is it possible to tell the story of a saint to a child? This is the challenge of this book. Francis from Assisi, Philip Neri, Luke the evangelist, Catherine from Siena are presented as champions of goodness, sharing willingness, happiness, generosity, friendship. Children will discover the virtues that the saints show and they may wish to imitate them. In the book you can find also interactive pages. Through them, they will discover that it is possible to be saint, even for a child.

Sing the creation! (coming soon...)

3-6 years

The Canticle of Creatures by Saint Francis of Assisi, that inspired the encyclical letter by pope Francis, is here presented in a text for very young children. Sun and wind, earth and stars: the wonderings of nature surround the child, who can say thanks for them through his body. This book offers a simple and concrete way to make children discover the respect of the environment.
